WHY HIRE A CONSULTANT?

skills

Although your church's leadership may have many of the skills needed to manage a campaign, a Strongtower Stewardship consultant has the time, passion and training to lead and motivate the campaign team, freeing church leadership to focus on existing ministries.

experience

We understand the multitude of campaign activity options available and the impact of each activity. Strong administrative skills and proven expertise also allow our consultants to adapt to each church's culture, as well as make appropriate adjustments for outside influences which could impact the campaign.

results

Finally, hiring a stewardship consultant should be viewed as an investment in a tangible spiritual and financial return, in the form of a more engaged and committed congregation. An experienced Strongtower Stewardship consultant should pay for himself as he helps you and your church realize spiritual, leadership and financial growth.
